of Edmund J Condon of New London, vho had been disbarred some time ago on embezzlement charges, was before the superior court short calendar session here on Friday on a motion brought up by Attorney Waller. Judge Gardiner Greene, who pre-sided, said the court would have to have the full facts in the case and that it should be referred to the state's attorney. He spoke of what kind of men should be admitted to the bar, saying that they should be only men of good character and when they are admitted they are advised of the high profession they are choosing. It was natural to sympathize with the applicant for reinstatement, but it would seem useless to excuse one by reinstatement after he had sinned.
